After three and a half months living in Australia, where I migrated to late August of 2018, I’m starting to see patterns in women’s attitudes towards masculism. I live alone, but would like to have some female companionship, so have chosen to twaytwef, i.e. have a relationship with a FIP (financially independent person) woman who has her own apartment. (Twaytwef = 2A2F = 2 apartments, 2 FIPs), so that if/when the relationship goes sour, the two just walk away back to their own apartments, at zero cost to the man.

I’ve written several flyers on the topic of twaytweffing, which is the obvious way for a man to get companionship and sex from a woman, without paying the traditional price of being a manslave to a fluffie parasite female.

To find such a twaytweffing woman who is not also a real feminazi, i.e. with a feminist indoctrinated attitude that gender oppression of one sex by the other is a one way street, i.e. by men against women, is not easy, because nearly all mono(conscious) Australian females are what I call “monoconscious feminazis”, nearly all of them. So each time I come across this attitude, I say to myself, “OMG, another one, another monoconscious feminazi!”

These monoconscious feminazis are the way they are, because they are monoconscious, i.e. by definition, they have had their feminist consciousness raised, i.e. they have been educated by feminist ideas, that men oppress women, and they are often well informed on how men do that, but they know nothing about masculism, because they have never heard of it, certainly not in the media, because the masculist media breakthrough hasn’t happened yet.

So, being monoconscious, not surprisingly, these women are angry at men, because they have learned how men oppress women. This anger makes them rather feminazi bitchy, and not nice to be with. It also makes them hostile when they come across masculist thinking for the first time. They tend to be strongly offended, and utterly refuse to consider a man, who is a masculist, as a potential date on an e-dating site, as I am learning is the case.

This has happened to me so regularly now, that I expect it, so, so as not to waste time and mental energy on a woman who contacts me on an e-dating site, I give them the “masculist test” i.e. I’m very up front with them, saying to them that “If you cant stomach my masculist views, then bye.” The usual reaction after they watch a few of my masculist videos, is that they don’t reply at all, or if they do, it’s usually with a rather hefty FU, expressing their outrage that a man could intellectually, ideologically attack women.

This to me is utter hypocrisy, of course, because they seem to be unaware that their attitude is that - its ok for a woman, a feminist, to be hostile to men, who in her view, gender oppress women, but it is not ok for a man, a masculist, to be hostile to women, who in his view, gender oppress men.

Such hypocritical women I label “monoconscious feminazis,” because they are repulsive to be with, utterly obnoxious, and misandrist, and since they are profound hypocrites, they are contemptible.

But, such women, particularly the mono(cultured) Australian women, are nearly all like this. Their culture has taught them feminism, and not (yet) taught them masculism, so they are gender biased, anger biased, monoconscious, and this makes them repulsive to masculists.

Such women who are intolerant and indifferent to the gender plight of males, especially towards the quarter of fathers who are financially massacred and have their lives destroyed in the fluffie feminist dominated divorce courts, are seen to be callous hypocrites to masculists, who of course, choose to have nothing to do with such women.

It is likely within a decade that most men will have been infected with the masculist virus, now that that virus has been hatched and is now starting to infect whole populations, millions, later billions of people. These monoconscious feminazis will be forced to accept the fact that if they ever hope to attract the interest of a man, these women, will need to become a lot more sympathetic towards masculist ideas, or they will pay a heavy price, i.e. they will not get a man. Masculist men find such women repulsive, and want nothing to do with them, forcing them to rot on the shelf, manless, loveless, sexless, babyless, and as masculist ideas spread throughout the culture, spat at, for being callous misandrist, who deserve not to get a man.

But, we are not there yet. The above scenario is just that, a future scenario. The media has yet to take up the masculist story in a big way, so the masses are still ignorant of what the masculists have to say, and what the masculists want, in terms of social attitudes, and political and legal changes.

So, for the time being, I as a masculist have to cope with this army of monoconscious feminazis. Each time I come across one, I comment to myself “She’s just another monoconscious feminazi. This country is full of them. They know nothing about masculism, and have had their heads filled with feminist dogmas about female intellectual equality with men, etc. They have not yet had their masculist consciousness raised, because they have never even heard of the term before. Masculist ideas to such women, which is nearly all women in this country (Australia) is a closed book.”
If I say to such a woman, “I’m a masculist!” the usual reaction is an instinctive reaction of fear, threat, discomfort – you can see it in their eyes, and their fearful body language. It is usually the first time they have even heard the label, but due to its obvious equivalence to the term feminist, they can quickly guess that it probably means an ideology that men do to women, what feminism, i.e. women, do to men, i.e. are hostile to them.

Since women have been dependent on men for their very survival, for several million years, it is built into women to be existentially fearful of the idea of being rejected by men. A million years ago, a woman who could not attract the attention of a regular meat providing male, risked starvation for herself and her babies. It is this fear reaction, I notice in women, when they first hear the word “masculist.”

So, how long is it going to take for women to stop being monoconscious feminazis? The answer depends on how quickly the masculists, especially masculist leaders, take to get the journalists in the broadcast media to teach the masses about masculist ideas, so that women can become conscious how women oppress men, e.g. with financial parasitism, with female manslavery, with the hypocrisy of the fluffie feminist takeover of the divorce courts, making them, indirect genociders, because they have made the divorce courts so toxic for men, that 2/3 of young men now in many countries refuse to marry, reject paternity (the huge issue) and spend their money on themselves, i.e. they have gone MGTOW (men going their own way) and thus cause the birthrate to crash, that will wipe out whole populations within a mere century, hence indirectly, these monoconscious feminazis have become genociders, and hence need to be stopped.

So, given what I’ve just said, why aren’t I approaching the media journalists with real energy. I do intend to, but I first want to get my book “MASCULISM : Men’s Rebellion Against Being Manslaves to Women : An e-Textbook of 300+ Masculist Fliers for Men’s Studies Courses” finished by Xmas. At the time of writing, early Dec 2018, I’m still checking 1000s of links in this e-textbook, to see if they are correct and functional. This will take me till Christmas.

In the new year, 2019, I will have a book that the journalists can refer to and to educate themselves with. By sending them the link to this book, that is freely downloadable, to them and to the world, it is just a question of time, before a handful of journalists bite the hook, and start spreading masculist ideas. Once the snowball has gathered enough momentum, the journalists who are usually rather sheepish, will climb onto the bandwagon, once they feel they will not be sticking their necks out, risking being fired by their feminazi dominated management, who are as monoconscious as the general population, so it will be an uphill battle for the masculists to achieve this snowball breakthrough.

Fortunately for the masculists, there are 1000s of media outlets, so a “numbers game” approach can be taken, i.e. send out the links to the book to 1000s of journalists, and wait for some to bite. When they do, send their media products to the same list of journalists used in the first round, so that they think “Hmm. Maybe there’s something to this masculism thing, because it’s starting to attract interest. Maybe I should give it a bit more attention!?”

Bit by bit, interest should thus increase, until some major journalist decides that masculism and the threat of population annihilation is real, so makes a big story, a cover story, of the ideology, and spreads the ideas to millions of people. Once that happens, the bandwagon is really rolling, so that the straggling journalists feel that they had better jump on too, or they will be left in the dust, and risk losing their job. That is when the tide turns, and we will see happening to masculism what happened to feminism in the 70s, when the media took up women’s issues in a big way.

Today we live with the product of that. In today’s world, most women are monoconscious feminazis. It wasn’t always like that. The feminists had to work hard to change society from the housewifey role of women in the 60s to the career woman role of women now.

It is now the task of the masculists to change society from the fluffie feminist role of women now, to the EMO (equal moral obligations) FIP (financially independent person) woman, of the hopefully not too distant future.
As masculism spreads, more and more men will confront women with their monoconscious attitudes, by telling them “You’re just another monoconscious feminazi” with a sneering tone in his voice, giving the woman confronted, the clear impression that this man has no interest in her whatever, and that if she does not change her monoconscious feminazi attitude towards men, SHE WILL NOT GET ONE!
